TELEPHONE RATES IN OHIO TO BE PROBED

APPROPRIATION OF $150,000 FOR PURPOSE PASSED SENATE

Attorney General Crabbe to Appoint Special Counsel—Governor Donahey in Mercy Recommended $100,000 Yearly for Prosecuting Claims Against Rate Increases.

A searching probe of telephone rates in this state will be made if the bill passed by the senate appropriating $150,000 for an investigation of the charges of the Ohio Bell Telephone company under the supervision of the public utilities and Attorney General Crabbe, is finally enacted into law.

While the upper house was taking this action, the commission was hearing the last arguments of a two day session concerning the appraisal figures that the Bell company had offered to gain permission for a telephone rate boost.

This was the second hearing before the commission in which the company and legal representatives of Ohio cities have been pitted against each other since the latter decided to unite in their fight against proposed increases.

Charges that the public utilities commission represents the public utilities and not the people of the state, were made by Senator George H. Bender, of Cuyahoga county, who sought to amend the bill so the governor would have charge of the appropriation.

Senators Adair and Garver, Democrats, joined with Bender in the effort to place the money in the governor's hands, because they did not believe the commission, acting as a judge, should be allowed to direct investigators to bring in evidence when it was hearing a case.

Joseph R. Gardner, of Cincinnati majority floor leader, declared the machinery for making such an investigation was wholly within the power of the commission. The bill passed 33 to 1, Bender opposing it.

During the verbal sparring match, the Democratic members insisted on talking about Donahey's two appointees to the utilities body, Earl D. Bloom, Bowling Green and J. W. Huffman, Zanesville, to succeed C. C. Marshall, Sidney, and George T. Poor, Cincinnati. However, they were silenced in the efforts and no indication as to what the senate may do in confirming or rejecting these appointments was forthcoming.

The appropriation bill, sponsored by Earl C. McChesney, Cincinnati, and prepared under direction of Attorney General Crabbe, making $75,000 available for an investigation and $25,000 with which the attorney general is authorized to employ special counsel. An additional $50,000 is placed with the state board of control, to be used when needed.

Governor Donahey recommended an $100,000 yearly appropriation in his message to the general assembly, to be used in prosecuting claims against utility rate increase demands, although he wanted it to be placed in his hands.

Governor Donahey had no comment on the action of the senate.

During discussion on the measure, Senator Graver advised G. O. P. members of the upper house to place that money in the hands of the chief executive "for their own good." That would be consistent with your attitude that things with the commission are all right, he pointed out. "Then, if the investigation fails, the governor will be held liable; of course, if it is productive, he would get the credit," he continued.

VIOLATORS OF LIQUOR LAWS FINED $900.

In the case of the State against Charles McKenzie, George Medbury, of Columbus, Ben Fout, of Grove City and James Smallwood of this city arrested by Sheriff Young March 4, charged with possession and transporting liquor Judge Adkins of probate court, fined the first named $500 for transportation and $400 for possession and also the costs amounting to $21.78. The others were discharged, having proved that they were not implicated. Mr. McKenzie paid the fine and costs.

Parasite Killing Fish in Pond at Washington

Seattle.—A parasite, new to the United States, has killed thirty-five fish of the tench variety in a pond at the University of Washington, according to Professor John Guberlet of the institution's zoology department, who was studying the organism here. "The parasite causes a film to form over the victim's body and the fish dies within two weeks. The tench has been the only variety attacked at present," said Professor Guberlet.

Toss of Coin Settles British Court Dispute

London.—The annals of the staid British courts of justice furnish no parallel to an incident in the high court of chancery recently, when a question of costs was decided by the toss of a coin. The action, between relatives, had been settled, but it remained to be decided whether the successful plaintiff should receive £300 or £400 costs. A suggestion to abide by the result of tossing a penny was adopted and the plaintiff had the luck to receive the larger amount. The judge did not participate in the tossing, but made no objection to it.

GYPSY ROVER ENJOYED BY LARGE CROWD

Play Was Well Rendered by Students of the High Schools.

One of the best local talent plays ever given in this city was put on by the students of Circleville high school at the high school auditorium Thursday evening under the direction of Misses Helen K. Wittich and Lucile De Reynolds. The players were assisted by the High School orchestra under the direction of Professor C. F. Zanglein.

The play was given in three acts and was laid in a Gypsy camp near London about 1778 in the time of King George the Third.

Nineteen musical numbers were given and the chorus was made up of eighteen girls and nine boys.

The riot of color of the Gypsy costume in contrast with the vogue of the English aristocracy of the eighteenth century, made the scenery colorful.

The playlet was given with a vim born of youth.

The musical and vocal numbers were good and the acting was supremely funny and entertaining. If you want to be entertained go tonight as the play will have its second appearance. Tickets on sale at Wulder's drug store.

WINTER SPORTS HEALTH BUILDERS

Parents Urged to Turn Children Loose in Snow

Albany, N. Y.—The advantages for children of outdoor play in winter were discussed by Dr. H. L. K. Shaw, consulting pediatrician of the state department of health, in a talk broadcast recently from Station WGY at Schenectady. Doctor Shaw believes that children need to get outdoors in winter even more than in summer owing to the fact that they spend so much time in crowded schoolrooms and overheated homes.

"There was a widespread belief not so many years ago," said Dr. Shaw, "that cold air and night air were injurious to health and were to be avoided. Many people used to follow the example of the bear and the woodchuck, who crawl into their holes and sleep all winter without fresh air. This was bad enough for the adults, but, worse still, it sets a bad example to their children.

"The change of popular opinion in regard to fresh air and ventilation came when it was found that fresh air, which in the northern states during winter is often cold air, is the best and surest cure for tuberculosis. Now this fresh air sentiment has extended beyond the needs of the consumptive to the homes and to the schools. School authorities recognize the need for fresh air, but unfortunately on account of lack of space in the city schools only a relatively few children are afforded the advantages of open air classes. These are generally restricted to children who are undernourished, debilitated or diseased. It has been definitely proved that children who attend these open-air classes or who study in well-ventilated school rooms are better scholars, more alert and show better powers of concentration.

"You should urge your child by example and precept to love the open in the winter. Outdoors in winter offers just as much fun as in summer and is just as comfortable for the child, provided he is dressed for the part. In the cold weather it is not necessary to be overclothed and overburdened with outside coverings. Do not dress your child as though he were going to the Arctic regions in search of the North pole. Comfortable mittens for the hands, ears protected and feet kept warm and dry are the essential points for winter outdoor dress. Exercise, whether playing, running or walking, keeps the body warm and brings a healthy glow to the skin. Rain or snow will not harm your child, provided he is properly dressed and protected. There is a real exhilaration in walking in a rainstorm; the raindrops striking the face are a wonderful tonic for the complexion. Walking briskly in the winter is excellent exercise, but it is not popular with the ordinary school child; it is too much like work and he sees no fun in it. Do not let your child be a 'sit-by-the-fire.'

Wyoming Excels in Vote Increase

Washington.—Wyoming led all the states in the proportional increase of votes in the last Presidential election over votes cast in 1920, according to announcement from the two sources.

The National Association of Manufacturers said Wyoming headed the list in its campaign to get the largest proportion of voters to the polls, and Collier's Weekly announced the award of its trophy, given in co-operation with various civic organizations for the same purpose. The figures of both announcements are the same.

Wyoming showed a vote increase of 37.7 per cent. Mississippi was next with an increase of 36.1 and Texas came third with 27 per cent. Others were California, fourth, 26.1 per cent; Rhode Island, fifth, 23.4 per cent; New Jersey, twelfth, 11.2 per cent, and New York, sixteenth, 7.4 per cent.

There was a decrease in twenty states, of which twelve were in the South. The net increase throughout the country was 4.2 per cent.

The time is passed when the measure of the value of a memorial is quantity. I hope the time has come when that measure is quality. I care not whether the material be marble or granite, its future will be measured by the character of the design. It is quality that has preserved for us the finest examples in painting and sculpture. It is quality that will stamp our imprint upon cemeteries of the future. Simplicity, correct lines and proportions and proper ornamentation are the real fundamentals. A design that is right, material that is lasting, and perfect workmanship, spells success for the future of this industry and the beautification of the cemetery. Will you let me help you select the memorial for your lot. Call at show room. NO AGENTS.

A Testimony From a Great Scientific Man—

"Like most boys, I owe my real start in life to my mother, still living, who began to teach me the Bible, standing at her knee, as soon as I could dimly grasp the simple words and before I could read. How well I recall measuring out the words of Matthew with deliberate childish intonation. 'Now when Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judea in the days of Herod, etc.' My first long series of Biblical puzzles was the command of John the Baptist to the Pharisees to 'bring forth therefore fruits meet for repentance;' I could not figure out how fruits could be meat."—Howard Kelly M. D., L. L. D., of John Hopkins university.

AMUSEMENTS

"The finest dramatic treat of the year," was the universal opinion of the audience last night at the Met theater, when Marshal Neilan's Metro Goldwyn production of "Tess of the D'Urbervilles" opened for a two days' run.

With a cast headed by Blanche Sweet, Neilan has made what is undoubtedly a perfect screen version of the famous Thomas Hardy novel. He has not rewritten nor revamped the famous story for that intangible "audience appeal." He has allowed it to proceed in its own way, and as a result, the film "Tess" has turned out to be a gripping, powerful picture with an appeal that reaches all hearts.

Besides Miss Sweet, the cast includes Conrad Nagel, Stuart Holmes, George Fawcett, Victory Bateman and Courtney Foote. It is a Louis B. Mayer presentation.

x HARTMAN THEATER x x x x x x x x x

A tremendous hit the country over, "Rose Marie" swings into the Hartman theater Columbus, Monday, March 16, for a week. Altho it was impossible for Arthur Hammerstein to know it at the premiere of "Rose Marie" in New York this musical play has established a vogue in the theater that has been expanding, until now it is very evident that this producer is a pioneer and that "Rose Marie" as a new type of musical show, has marked another whirl in the ever-moving cycle.

"Rose Marie" marked the beginning of the end for the revue type of musical show, with a leaning to the operetta style, real music and a sturdy plot. That "Rose Marie" will pile up a tremendous box office showing here is evidenced by the fact that since tickets were placed on sale at the theater, a line, almost unbroken, has filed in from the sidewalks. Irene Pavolka, a singing power with the Chicago Opera company, is featured member of "Rose Marie." The principals are Guy Robertson, Charles Meakins, Phebe Brune, Charles Silber, Beatrice Kay, Paul Donah, Byron Russell, William O. Skavlan, Cora Frye and others of high rank.

With all the glittering and favorable publicity "Rose Marie" has received Arthur Hammerstein more than likely could reap a rich harvest with a touring organization. The glorious voiced Irene Pavloska outshines any prima donna who has appeared in recent years in musical plays. Her singing of the exquisite "Indian Love Call" is unforgettable. The waltz song, "Rose Marie" is most bewitching. "Totem Tom Tom" with the gorgeous ballet is bewildering in its beauty. Mail orders now.

WHAT DO YOU MEAN
By "Hard Boiled?"—Here's Origin of Expression.

Probably you call someone "hard boiled" or "an eight-minute egg," every now and then, but exactly what do you mean by it? And how did these terms come into general use?

An article in this week's issue of Liberty tells the story of these additions to American slang.

"The origin of the term hard boiled is lost far back in the annals of yeggdom," it says. "But the term hard-boiled egg, from which the more recent usage of the term hard boiled arose, is comparatively recent and belongs to the New York school of slang.

"The term originated in Jack Doyle's billiard academy, the heart of Broadway. The term was invented by Jack Doyle, who described a certain class of pool and billiard players as hard boiled eggs, meaning tight in their play, close in their finances, and in everything else. The expression, however, carries no meaning of viciousness or dishonesty.

"The expression captured the fancy of Damon Runyon, the writer and he used it in his tales, while Tad Dorgan picked it up and used it in his comic pictures. Broadway accepted the term, which spread quickly over the rest of the land.

"The war suddenly changed the accepted meaning of the term. The word egg was dropped and men became merely 'hard boiled'—and the term reverted to the old meaning as it was among the yeggs: hard, shrewd, keen men who neither asked nor expected sympathy nor gave any, who could not be imposed upon."

Bristles on Head

The African crowned crane derives its name from the curious fan-shaped straw-colored crest of wiry bristles that adorns the back of its head, says Nature Magazine. This crest, with the long neck, bare face and bushy black feathers of the top of the head, give the bird a striking appearance.

HOME AND KITCHEN
SUGGESTIONS

Edited by Helen Harrington Downing, Director Home Economics, Calumet Baking Powder Co., Chicago, Ill.
Casserole Dishes

There is no doubt that the fashion of cooking in casseroles has come to stay in this country; and it is hardly a matter of surprise when the advantages of this form of cookery are considered. The sooner the casserole utensil becomes an indispensable part of our kitchen outfit, the better, for it makes in every way for economy—economy of materials, time and labor.

The next time you have a baked dish for your dinner, why not utilize the heat of the oven for a casserole dessert—and think of the time, energy and dish-washing you will save; or why not make your next vegetable dinner, supper or luncheon one of casserole dishes—say Curried Vegetables as the principal dish and then have a Chocolate Rice Meringue or Bread Pudding for your Casserole dessert?

We seldom think of escalloped fruits, but escalloped apples, apricots, peaches, etc., make splendid dishes.

Ham and Potatoes En Casserole
(4 Portions.)

1 lb. slice of ham about 2-3 inch thick; 4 new potatoes; 1 cup flour; 12 cloves; ¼ esp. paprika; 1 tsp. chopped parsley; 2 tsp. flour.

Have a frying pan very hot. Add the ham and brown thoroughly on both sides. Add the water and let boil for 1 minute. Remove the ham. Stick the cloves into it and place it in the bottom of a casserole. Add parsley and paprika to the water in the pan and pour the liquid over the meat. Cover and bake in a moderate oven for half an hour. Roll the potatoes (which have been washed and peeled) in the flour, and add to the casserole. Baste with the liquid. Cover and cook ¾ of an hour. Serve in the casserole.

Pork Chops En Casserole.

6 Pork chops; 6 sweet potatoes; ½ cup brown sugar; 1 to 2 cups milk; salt and peper.

Place a layer of sweet potatoes, sliced crosswise, in a greased casserole, dust with salt, pepper and a little brown sugar; continue the layers until the casserole is about two-thirds full. Heat the milk and pour it over the potatoes; it should just cover them. Place the pork chops on top of the potatoes, cover and bake for an hour, then remove the cover and season with salt and peper. Leave cover off and cook until chops are tender and browned on top.

Way to Water Plants
For winter plants a good general rule to follow is to watch the soil at the top of the pot. When it is thoroughly dried out, water the plant, says a botanical magazine. When watering, saturate the entire mass of soil. Do not just wet the top and trust to luck that the soil in the bottom will get wet enough. One can usually be assured that the entire mass of soil is soaked when water runs out of the bottom of the pot.

Practically Destitute in Fact

Some of my dearest boyhood memories cluster about a gravel-covered wharf where the Tennessee like an amorous lady, kisses the Ohio not once but twice and then in the embrace of the wider, stronger stream goes romancing away to receive the parental blessing of that father of all the rivers, the Old Mississippi. There on the porch of an ancient boatstore overlooking the mating-place of the waters I heard tales of the older days when the gamblers rode the packets and the mate knew no closed season on black roustabouts and the b'ilers busted from time to time and scattered proud steamboats in splintery smithereens. There too, I one day heard what I still, after all these years, regard as a magnificent example of spontaneous American humor.

Tilted back in his chair on the boatstore porch sat Cap'n Joe Fowler, as typical a Kentuckian as the flag end of the last century produced. A packet bound from Cincinnati to New Orleans, landed. Up the steep slope of the wharf came a tourist lady from up North somewhere—anywhere across the Ohio was "up North" to us in that town. In the crook of her arm this lady bore the first Mexican hairless dog Cap'n Joe had ever seen. The animal was no larger than a full grown rat; in fact it rather resembled a rat. It seemed a miserable, naked, sickly little thing which shivered even though the air was balmy and clinched with vague uneasiness at every sound.

As the lady drew close Cap'n Joe stood up and made a low bow to her.

"I beg your pardon, madam," he said in his best company drawl, "but might a total stranger so far intrude upon you as to ask you a question?"

"You might," she said, her sharp accents in strong contrast to his deeper yet infinitely softer tones:

"Thank you, madam," he said. "The question, madam, relates to the dog you are carrying. Is that your own dog?"

"It is," she said.

"Is that the only dog you've got?"

"It is."

"Madam," said Cap'n Joe, "ain't you mighty nigh out of dog?"

Where Jimmy's Education Really Was Shy

After a twenty years' absence a gentleman returned to the little New England town where he had been born and where he spent his boyhood. In the neighborhood in which he had been reared he found but one of the original residents remaining, an elderly Irish lady. He made himself known to her, and she welcomed him back home again, and promptly they fell to talking of the boys and girls with whom he had grown up. This one, she told him, had turned out badly. That one had turned out well. Some were dead. Some had moved away. Finally he asked:

"Tell me, Mrs. Daly, whatever became of poor little Jimmy McKenna who used to live in the shanty right down the street here?"

"Poor, is it?" echoed Mrs. Daly.

"Poor nothin'! Jimmy McKenna had no schoolin', as you may remember, but when he grew up he got into the truckin' business and from that he turned to contractin', and though he couldn't read and write, he made a million."

"Bully!" said the returned one. "And where is he now?"

"As to that," said Mrs. Daly, "I couldn't say. I hope, though, he's in heaven. You see, sor, here about two years ago, Jimmy went down to the gravel pit where some of the byes was in swimmin', an' it bein' a warm day he took off his clothes and waded in, and he waded out too far and he got over his head and was drowned."

"Oh, that's too bad," said the visitor. "To think of a boy who had no better start than Jim McKenna had doing so well in the world, and then meeting an end like that! And he made a million, you say? And yet he couldn't read and write?"

"No," said Mrs. Daly, "nor swim."

Not a Family of Musicians

A self-made western millionaire built the finest house in his home town. He imported decorators to furnish it, and managed to get it finished by the time his eldest son arrived from the East where the youth had been completing his education.

The proud father escorted the young man through the shining new mansion, followed by the other members of the household. When the grand tour had been completed the millionaire inquired whether the son had any suggestions to make.

"Well," said the young man, "to me it seems complete in every possible detail except one."

"What's missin'?" demanded the parent.

"You ought to have a chandelier in the main drawing-room," said the boy.

"All right," said the father. "I'll order one by telegraph tonight but I'll bet a thousand dollars there ain't a d—n one in the family can play it."

Radio Mystery

A fireman testing an alarm was startled to hear soft music on the line. A moment later he heard a woman singing. A full concert program followed. The reason for the music is a mystery. One theory is that the wire of the alarm is picking up from an earth line, another that it is the result of induction on overhead lines.

PRESIDENT OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY

Dr. Thompson Delivered Interesting Address at the Presbyterian Church.

Dr. W. O. Thompson, president of the Ohio State university, made an address at the Presbyterian church Thursday evening. He was greeted by a good audience.

The president's address was well received. He reviewed the present upheaval in thought and conditions of the country and deplored the tendency on the part of a minority to stir up trouble and create class prejudice. This element has always been present. He said that we deplore the wrong path they have taken and are always ready to lead these misguided spirits in the right path. The church will be called upon to commit itself to the task of ironing out this un-American idea. This is a country in which fair play and Golden Rule, should prevail. President Thompson was the guest of Colonel and Mrs. C. E. Groce while he was in the city.

Seek Good Expression

Style is the dress of thoughts; let them be ever so just, if your style is homely, coarse and vulgar, they will appear to as much disadvantage, and be as ill received, as your person, though ever so well proportioned, would be if dressed in rags, dirt and tatters.—Chesterfield.

HOPE IS GIVEN IN CANCER CURE

Can Be Stopped in Early Stages, Says Surgeon.

London.—"Nothing is more certain than that cancer, whatever its occult nature may be, is a local disease in the first instance; that it remains a local disease for periods which are sometimes short and sometimes very long, and that if treated in its early stages by operative methods it is completely and permanently eradicated."

Such is the opinion of Sir Berkeley Moynihan, perhaps Britain's most famous surgeon. British scientists and medical men have been devoting much time to the study of cancer, still regarded as the most baffling disease known to modern surgery or medicine, and Moynihan, who expressed these views in a lecture to the Association of Science Masters at Leeds university, confirmed them later in an interview.

The trouble in dealing with cancer, said the famous surgeon, was to obtain access to the disease while it was still in the local stage. Public fear of the disease is a great handicap in dealing with it and it should be made a matter of common knowledge that cancer is not, as most people suppose, a disease from whose immediate and recurrent ravages there is no escape. "We must broadcast the truth, that, with few exceptions, an early operation for any cancerous disease is attended by the slightest risk, if indeed by any, and may confidently be expected to confer a permanent immunity from a return of the disease," he declared.

Sir James Bland Sutton, head of the cancer research campaign, does not accept the idea that cancer can be eradicated by surgical operation in the early stages, as he contends we do not yet know what are the early stages of the disease.

Other cancer experts, however, are disposed to agree with Moynihan.

The London Cancer hospital declares it has effected many cures during the past 20 years, and a great deal of research work has been carried out there, and is continuing daily. A complete register of all patients operated upon between 1904 and 1914 is being gone over to discover how patients have fared since.

EAGLES TOOK GAME FROM C. A. C. TEAM

Was Real Fight From First Whistle — Score Was 24 to 2.

In a game that kept the spectators on the edge of their seats thruout the contest the local Eagles, upset the dope last night by defeating the C. A. C. five 24 to 22.

It cannot be denied that both local fans and the management of the C. A. C. team had the Eagles team badly under rated and no doubt the club team can attribute their defeat to a great extent to overconfidence. Neither can we deny the Eagles the honor due them. They played a wonderful game of basketball and the game was a fight from the first whistle.

To the Eagles goes the honor of the best floor game. To Gattrel of the C. A. C. and Scothorn of the Eagles high point honors. Each man securing ten point.

Next Tuesday night the second game of the series will be played on the C. A. C. floor. This game will no doubt surpass last night's contest. The Eagles with a game lead will strive to finish the series. While on the other hand the club team sweltering over their defeat will play their limit to make it one all, so don't fail to see this show.

The score—
